We're all trying to avoid crowds this year and that means the 2021 season is a perfect time to explore the ski towns less traveled. Take McCall, Idaho, for example, which not only has the scenic Shore Lodge (on the shores of Payette Lake), but the freshly renovated Tamarack Resort 35 minutes away. The latter is a fine base to explore the 2,800 feet of vertical elevation on 1,020 lift-accessed acres at the nearby mountain.
